

Books and Articles You Can Listen To or Read With a Screen Reader (JAWS, Kurzweil, etc.)

1. Free audio and ebooks and services. For assistance with these tools, contact the SCC library reference desk at 916-558-2461. You can also chat, IM, text, or email on the Library Research Assistance page.
 - a. Sacramento Public Library
 - i. Thousands of audio book titles in a variety of formats
 - ii. Search the library catalog for your topic, author, or title, then “Refine by” Format. Available formats include large print, audiobook CD, e-audiobook, audiobook cassette, ebook, Playaway, Braille, and e-journal.
 - iii. California residents can get a free public library card.
 - b. Project Gutenberg
 - i. Over 33,000 free ebooks (copyright expired)
 - ii. Downloadable to ePub, Kindle, HTML and text formats
 - iii. Read on a PC, iPad, Kindle, Sony Reader, iPhone, or other
 - c. The Project Gutenberg Partners and Affiliates page lists additional sources for audio ebooks, very many from Gutenberg. Scroll to:
 - i. LiteralSystem Free audio books for personal enjoyment
 - ii. Librivox.org Free public domain audio books
 - iii. Open Library Over one million ebooks in plain text, ePub, DAISY, DjVu and MOBI. From The Internet Archive
 - iv. The Online Books Page. One million plus ebooks in HTML and PDF.
 - v. ManyBooks.net Free ebooks in several formats
 - vi. Annotated Works via Wikibooks, the free textbook project
 - d. Blio.com Free software that can read books aloud that have been downloaded to a PC or portable device
2. Free audio and ebooks and articles for SCC Students.
 - a. SCC Library ebooks.
 - i. The online library catalog lists 20,000 ebooks; most are accessible to screen readers in HTML or PDF. Use

Advanced Keyword search and limit results to Location: Online/Web.

- ii. Books are accessible from off campus to current students with student ID number (w number) and eservices password.
 - b. Articles from the SCC subscription databases
 - i. The research databases contain millions of periodical articles on most topics in HTML or PDF. Many full text articles in HTML have a Listen link to audio that can be streamed or downloaded to disk. Most articles are accessible to screen readers; image files are an exception.
 - ii. Databases are accessible off campus to current students with student ID number (w number) and eservices password.
3. Services & software for SCC students with print disabilities. For information and assistance regarding these services, contact the individuals listed below.
- a. Kurzweil 1000
 - i. Students scan text and the program reads the text aloud.
 - ii. Located on ADA computers in the Library, Instructional Media Center, B152, and the High Tech Center Lab in AJ4.
 - iii. Contact Dan Welz in the High Tech Center for training.
 - b. BookShare
 - i. Accessible books for individuals with print disabilities
 - ii. Free for U.S. students with disabilities, from the U.S. Dept. of Education Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP).
 - iii. Contact Ryan Glenn for information and access.
 - c. Recording for the Blind & Dyslexic
 - i. National nonprofit with a large digital textbook library of accessible educational nonfiction and fiction materials
 - ii. Free individual membership that includes software for Mac or PC; certification required
 - iii. SCC institutional membership
 - iv. Contact Ryan Glenn for information and access.
 - d. National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped

- i. Talking Books Free service for print disabled persons. Audiobooks, magazines, and equipment mailed at no cost. Braille also available.
- ii. The California State Library, Braille and Talking Book Library in Sacramento administers the program in Northern California.

4. Subscription ebooks and services.

- a. Audible.com Audio books from Amazon for a monthly fee
- b. World Public Library Audio ebooks available by subscription